

CONNECT

Dedicated to Preventing Interpersonal
Violence and Promoting Gender Justice

CONNECT FAITH

Collaborating with diverse faith communities to create and strengthen their response to gender and family violence

Responding to Domestic Violence in Faith Communities: 2-Day Training

Thursdays, April 20 & 27, 9:30am - 4:30pm

CONNECT's Co-Executive Directors Rev. Dr. Sally MacNichol and Quentin Walcott lead an innovative 2-day training on domestic violence for religious leaders, spiritual activists, and all people of Faith:

- Gain a basic understanding of the complex dynamics of intimate partner abuse and effects on individuals, families and communities
- Learn about intervention strategies: practices and resources needed to help keep victim/survivors safe, and abusers accountable
- Explore approaches to the challenging pastoral, theological and spiritual issues that abuse and violence in the family raise
- Develop strategies for how you and your community of faith can play a critical role in breaking the silence and preventing domestic violence

WHEN

Thursdays, 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.
April 20 & April 27 2017

WHERE

127 West 127th St, Room 432
New York, NY

Register on our website, or email
connectfaith@connectnyc.org for more information